ITALY'S 24 HOUR ULTIMATUM GIVEN GREECE

ASKS REPARATION FOR THE MASSACRE OF FIVE ITALIANS

PREMIER JONATIS OF GREECE SAYS SOME OF DEMANDS ARE INACCEPTABLE

GREECE, SAYS PREMIER, BELIEVES KILLING WAS WORK OF ALBANIAN BANDITS

(By United Press)

Athens, Aug. 30.—The Greek cabinet met today to consider the Italian ultimatum which gives this country 24 hours to make reparations for the massacre of five Italian officers in Greek territory. Premier Jonatis stated to the press that some of the demands could not be granted, some must be modified and that some are inacceptable to Greece.

The premier added that Greece feels greatly the indignation caused by the incident, but believes that Albanian bandits and not Greeks were the guilty parties.

"I believe this unfortunate incident will not ultimately affect Greek and Italian relations."

It was felt that in event of a deadlock Greece would ask the intercession of the League of Nations.

The Greeks are understood to be willing to pay the 50,000,000 lire indemnity demanded but to be opposed to acceptance of some of the other clauses of the ultimatum which are humiliating.

The principal points of the Italian ultimatum are:

A fifty million lire indemnity.

Italian officers are to be allowed to participate in the investigation to be conducted at the scene of the massacre within five days.

All culprits are to be executed.

Greece must apologize to Italy through the medium of a high military officer.

The Greek cabinet is to attend the funeral services for the victims to be conducted in the Cathedral at Athens.

The Greek fleet must salute the Italian fleet in Greek waters off Paraeus, the port of Athens.

Each ship is to fire 21 guns and hoist the Italian colors.

The assassination of the five members of the Italian commission occurred while they were riding in an automobile near cars containing two members of the commission for delimination of the Albanian frontier.

The Italian car was halted by a tree which had been felled across the road. The incident occurred Monday midway between Janina and Santa Quaranta. The scene of the occurrence was a thick woods.

FRANCE DEPLORES ACTION OF ITALY

Paris, Aug. 30.—French authorities, it was learned from semi-official sources, deplore the Italian action in dispatching an ultimatum to Greece without first consulting the council of ambassadors.

The Italian note is considered too hard, and seeks to humiliate Greece unnecessarily. It is doubtful whether Greece will be able to raise the money demanded by Italy in so short a time as that fixed by the note.

Members of the council of ambassadors are now still on vacations, and it is not known what action might be taken by that body.

ITALIAN FLEET HAS CLEARED FOR ACTION

London, Aug. 30.—A Milan dispatch to the Evening News said the Italian fleet at Taranto had been ordered cleared for action, as a movement against Greece might occur at any moment.

Taranto is an Italian naval base on the Gulf of Taranto at the heel of the Italian boot.

COUNCIL OF AMBASSADORS TO MEET IN PARIS SOON

London, Aug. 30.—The council of ambassadors will be asked to meet in Paris, and will request Italy to make no aggressive move pending settlement of the dispute which has arisen, it was authoritatively forecast here today.

The ambassadors will forward a protest to Greece against the assassination of the border commission and will recommend an immediate government inquiry into the massacre.

It is expected that Greece will concede, whereupon a request will be sent to Italy to withhold her hand.

$2100 Budget for Civic & Commerce Association

AGREE TO RETURN "IN PRINCIPLE" THE CROWN PRINCE

(By United Press)

Berlin, Aug. 30.—The national Prussian government has agreed "in principle" to the return of former crown prince Frederick Wilhelm to Germany, it was learned today from sources reliable.

Before the final agreement is completed, the former crown prince must agree to remain on his estate if permitted to return and refrain from mixing in politics, it was stated.

EUROPE "HELLHOLE," JOHNSON DECLARES

Chicago, Aug. 30.—"Europe is a hellhole of sordid selfishness," said Senator Hiram Johnson, after a visit abroad. "I have been over there five months, and selfishness controls every policy. Idealism and altruism in the councils of Europe are wholly submerged. We should thank God we are out of the European mess. I did not find any civic organizations in Europe passing any resolutions about our problems.

"When we have solved our farmer, transportation, coal strike and other affairs and put our own house in order, we can be generous, as we always have been for every other nation's ills."

WAR POSSIBILITIES SIZED UP BY U. P.

By J. W. MASON
(Written for the United Press.)

War between Greece and Italy can be averted only by acceptance by the Athens government of the principal terms of the Italian ultimatum. Greece is in no position to wage a successful conflict against Italy, and it is possible, therefore, that the Athens government will agree to the Italian demands.

Should war result, however, it would be an easy matter for the Italian fleet to capture Piraeus, the port of Athens, and the Italian flag thereafter would almost certainly fly from the Greek capital.

The Italian government has indicated this would be the strategy basis if the terms of the ultimatum are not accepted.

The Greek coast would be prey to the Italians if the ultimatum was challenged, and the overthrow of the Athenian government would follow.

Mussolini has seized the present opportunity to increase his popularity at home. There is no certainty that the border commissioners were killed by the Greeks. It is probable that the assassins were Albanians, but Mussolini has declined to await the outcome of the investigation on the ground that, irrespective of the nativity of the murderers, Greece is responsible for not having provided adequate protection for the Italians.

Italy considers the Greeks as rivals for the control of the Adriatic, and has long suspected that the Greeks were seeking a secret alliance with the Albanians against the Italians for mastery of the Adriatic. Mussolini's quick action in the present crisis, therefore, insures him the enthusiastic support of his fellow countrymen and permits him to be regarded once more as Italy's savior.

The present is an entirely propitious time for Italy to make a militant gesture at Greece. With the other great European powers taken up with affairs in the Ruhr, it seems likely that Italy will have a free hand. This means that in event of war breaking out it probably would be localized and would not grow into another world conflagration.

CAMPAIGN OPENED AT LAST NIGHT'S ASSOCIATION MEAL

EXCELLENT SUPPER SERVED BY THE HOUSE AND SOCIAL COMMITTEE

W. H. CLEARY, S. R. ADAIR AND J. A. THABES ON THE BUDGET COMMITTEE

Following a most satisfying dinner served by the house and social committee of the Civic & Commerce association Wednesday evening, the initial guns were fired in the $2,100 budget campaign staged by the budget committee, W. H. Cleary, S. R. Adair and Dr. J. A. Thabes.

Speakers vied in praising Brainerd, its varied resources, the tourist trade, the city's progressiveness and the spirit now permeating every section of Brainerd and exemplifying itself in service for the city's good.

President H. P. Dunn presided and had arranged a most happy program, laying a groundwork by the various speeches made, of the need of putting across the required budget and keeping Brainerd in the forefront of the wave of progress.

The affairs of the association have been most economically conducted. This year the association points to a Tourist park, equipped as none other in the Northwest, which has gained fame and 12,000 tourists for Brainerd and is continuing to add to the tourist roll stopping here.

The association gained the credit for putting over the Northern Minnesota Editorial convention and securing a wealth of publicity in state papers, magazines, publishers' journals, etc., of the city's resources and the county's varied industries. One of the latest to accord extended mention is Captain William H. Fawcett's magazine, "Whiz Bang," national circulation of 375,000, which gives three and a half pages to Brainerd and the editorial convention.

Brainerd is really the most talked of town in the United States today. From coast to coast, from Canada to the Gulf, people know Brainerd and they all speak well of the town.

President H. P. Dunn, in his introductory address, praised this spirit of service now so evident in Brainerd. Through cooperation the city was making rapid strides.

Mayor Con O'Brien spoke of the necessity of providing good highway aprpoaches to Brainerd. No trade territory can be maintained or extended unless good roads are provided. One such road needing improvment is the one extending into the Pelican lake district.

George D. LaBar said Brainerd was destined to soon become a city of 20,000. He spoke of the Shriners who recently visited the city and praised its fine appearance and noted the many improvements made in the last 10 years.

R. R. Wise praised the tourist travel and traced its influence in increasing all lines of business. A factor in promoting tourist travel was the constant work of the Ten Thousand Lakes association.

W. H. Cleary said Brainerd was the gateway to the greatest natural playground in the world. The time was not far distant when huge hotels would be built at the lakes in the Brainerd district rivalling those of Atlantic City.

Dr. J. A. Thabes backed up his fellow committee man in the budget service and said President Dunn should receive the support of all present.

F. H. Gruenhagen said the Civic & Commerce association was accomplishing things and should be supported in every way possible.

H. F. Michael said we could not go too far in exploiting our natural advantages.

Dr. R. A. Beise commended the work of President Dunn, the officers and directors. Donations to the Tourist park fund had turned out to be real investments. Other things to be "put across" were a fish hatchery, road improvements, continued beautifying of the city. He hoped that the association might some day buy up all the scrub bulls of the county, make bologna out of them and replace them with pure bred stock.

W. E. Haydon suggested a budget to also include next year's requirements.

S. R. Adair of the budget committee spoke of this year's plans.

Milton Mahlum said the lumber companies were fully aware of the value of good roads.

Henry I. Cohen spoke of the common sense, practical manner Civic & Commerce association affairs were conducted.

A. J. Hayes revealed the change of sentiment recorded in speaking of Brainerd. In the past certain city streets had been condemned by the tourists, while now praise was showered instead.

Walter M. Murphy spoke of the needs of the Pelican lake road. It needed surfacing and when completed it would be one of the finest scenic roads in the whole country.

Frank G. Hall referred to the natural fish hatchery on Gull river and the need of proper buildings, etc. The matter will be taken up with the new officer of the state game and fish commission, Mr. Gould.

G. S. Swanson asked about the status of the Belle Prairie-Brainerd paving extension.

Subscription pledges were then received for the $2100 budget of the Civic & Commerce association, those present agreeing to pay $1200. The budget committee will continue solicitations in the city until the required amount is raised.

Fireworks, Deferred Last Night at the Pequot County Fair, To Be Released in Double Header Tonight; Brainerd Should Go

Due to not having received the feature section of the fireworks in time for presentation last night at the Crow Wing county fair at Pequot, all fireworks were put off to tonight, and this evening the county fair will blaze out in a double header of "Mount Vesuvius" and "The Battle of Verdun."

This notification is given out by the fair management so that people will not imagine some catastrophe had broken out in the metropolis north of Brainerd.

Mayor Arthur E. Nelson of St. Paul speaks this evening at 7:30 o'clock. He is worth going miles to hear.

After him, at 8:30 o'clock, comes the deluge of fireworks. Nobody should miss it. There are 24 paydays in the year, but there is only one county fair and Brainerd people should make it a point to be in attendance tonight.

The products of the soil assembled, the livestock exhibits, the fruits, etc., are worthy of inspection and you can encourage the fair movement mightily by your attendance today. The night program was made an especially attractive one to give Brainerd and other people who could not attend in the day time, a chance to come evenings.

WORLD COURT STATUTE CHANGES

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—Because the world has now become a subject of "political discussion which possibly may become earnest and diversent as it proceeds," the international law committee of the American Bar association today refused to recommend amendments to the world court statutes which it was hoped would make it possible for the United States to adhere to the court.

The committee includes Robert Lansing, secretary of state under President Wilson, and George W. Wickersham, attorney general during the past regime. The opinions of the committee will be announced late today.

Wickersham, George Donworth and James Brown Scott of the committee attached a joint statement to the report saying that they were "unequivocally in favor" of American adhesion to the terms which may be agreed to by the court and American officials.

The association last year at the request of Chief Justice Taft instructed the committee to recommend changes in the organization of the international court which would enable the United States to participate in its activities.

Mrs. Evans, former policewoman, says her husband was off duty last night and had been drinking.

HE CAN SMELL MOON BLOCK AWAY

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—Ole Olson, liquor sleuth extraordinary, is back on the job in Minneapolis.

He celebrated his return to the Minneapolis Purity Squad this morning by arresting Ernest R. Wretland, Fergus Falls, real estate man.

Olson, with the papearance of an immigrant just landed at Ellis Island, left the Purity Squad here after he became famous and joined the prohibition forces.

The liquor sleuth had just returned to Minneapolis today.

Olson is reputed to have a nose that can smell a drink of moonshine a block away.

He halted Wretland as he passed him on the street, and a search disclosed a gallon of moonshine.

Mr. Wretland is at the Minneapolis jail while Olson is searching for the taxi driver who, Mr. Wretland says, sold him the liquor.

$33,000 LOOT MAY BE BURIED IN A CAVE NEAR DETROIT

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—A crumpled map found in the pocket of a transient in Minneapolis, may lead to the recovery of $33,000 loot said to be buried in a cave near Detroit, Minn.

It may also be the first step in solving some of the big robberies committed a few years ago.

The transient, Hilbert Nielsen, was arrested here this morning by police detectives on suspicion.

When searched, the map, drawn on a piece of writing paper, was found carefully concealed in an inside pocket. The map had been given him, he said, by a Minneapolis woman who told him she had obtained it from a man serving a life sentence at Stillwater.

The map indicated a cave near the town of Richwood, near Detroit, Minn.

Minneapolis police are investigating, and Chief Frank Brunskill said early this afternoon that detectives will probably go to Richwood with the map.

AGRICULTURAL SLUMP CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Indianapolis, Aug. 30.—A meeting of bank creditors and Governor Warren P. McCray, who today admitted heavy reverses due to the "agricultural depressino," has been called here for tomorrow.

Elmer P. Stout, president of the Fletcher Bank, one of the governor's heaviest creditors, called the meeting shortly after McCray's resignation as president of the Deposit and Discount Bank. Stout was made chairman.

Until recently McCray had been regarded as one of the financial as well as political powers of the state. He is interested in several large livestock farms and his losses were said to be in connection with these.

"Several creditors have asked if our institution would take charge of the governor's assets and distribute them among the creditors," Stout said.

McCray would neither deny or confirm reports that Tom Taggert, Indiana Democratic chief; James A. Allison, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and former Governor James P. Goodrich had raised a fund to aid him.

OPERATORS LOOK WITH DISFAVOR ON SETTLEMENT PLAN

CLAIM UNALTERABLE OPPOSITION TO SOME PHASES OF PINCHOT PROPOSAL

EFFORTS TO SECURE AGREEMENT ON SCALE OF MAINTENANCE MEN FAILED

(By United Press)

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 30.—Anthracite coal operators looked with disfavor upon certain phases of Pinchot's proposal for settlement of the coal strike.

Some operators, it was learned on indisputable authority, are unalterably opposed to complete recognition of the miners' union, against which they have fought for years.

Efforts to secure an agreement on the scale of maintenance men failed today when the miners refused the offers of the operators, the nature of which could not be learned. The decision was reached at a meeting of miners and operators early today.

The operators left for Philadelphia at 9 a. m. They will hold an executive meeting at Warriner's office and talk over the entire proposal.

Operators refused to give any public expressions of their sentiment until they submit their answers to Governor Pinchot tomorrow noon.

But it is known that several of them believe acceptance of the peace offer made by the governor would involve enormous concessions on their part. Both sides are caucusing today on the proposal, the miners here and the operators on their way to Philadelphia.

The two sides are considering the four points outlined by the governor, and there is some hope that they may be accepted.

Pinchot's proposal given out last night was:

1. A 10 per cent wage increase for the men.

2. A halfway checkoff, permitting the union to collect dues on pay day, but also providing that operators fully recognize the union.

3. Recognition of the 8-hour day.

The governor also added another point—that of recognition of the right of collective bargaining. He suggested that if miners and operators were not able to accept his proposal they should move to place the matter before a board with an impartial, non-voting chairman, who could advise them, and that if they still could not reach an agreement, he suggested that the matter be left to the miners and operators board of conciliation.

But inasmuch as only twelve hours are left until strike time, a strike is liable to ensue should either partly reject the basic offer. It seemed unlikely to observers that any step could be taken to remove the objections of either party.

The lone hope upon which Pinchot then may rely to prevent suspension of mining is the plan whereby Pinchot may seize the mines and with the help of the miners produce coal. It is known that Pinchot has been advised to appeal to the public health commissioner and declare a state of emergency, so that his administration may assume control of the mines.

The only possibility of producing coal as far as the operators are concerned is in the suggestion that Pinchot take over the operation of the mines and appeal to the laborers to save the country from a winter fuel famine.

If the operators reject his proposal, it is likely he will suggest that the miners abide by the desires of the country and leave the rest to them.

The miners are not entirely agreeable to the proposal. They want some changes, but these are mostly minor matters and could be settled after.

HE CAN SMELL MOON BLOCK AWAY

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—Ole Olson, liquor sleuth extraordinary, is back on the job in Minneapolis.

He celebrated his return to the Minneapolis Purity Squad this morning by arresting Ernest R. Wretland, Fergus Falls, real estate man.

Olson, with the papearance of an immigrant just landed at Ellis Island, left the Purity Squad here after he became famous and joined the prohibition forces.

The liquor sleuth had just returned to Minneapolis today.

Olson is reputed to have a nose that can smell a drink of moonshine a block away.

He halted Wretland as he passed him on the street, and a search disclosed a gallon of moonshine.

Mr. Wretland is at the Minneapolis jail while Olson is searching for the taxi driver who, Mr. Wretland says, sold him the liquor.

WORLD COURT STATUTE CHANGES

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—Because the world has now become a subject of "political discussion which possibly may become earnest and diversent as it proceeds," the international law committee of the American Bar association today refused to recommend amendments to the world court statutes which it was hoped would make it possible for the United States to adhere to the court.

The committee includes Robert Lansing, secretary of state under President Wilson, and George W. Wickersham, attorney general during the past regime. The opinions of the committee will be announced late today.

Wickersham, George Donworth and James Brown Scott of the committee attached a joint statement to the report saying that they were "unequivocally in favor" of American adhesion to the terms which may be agreed to by the court and American officials.

The association last year at the request of Chief Justice Taft instructed the committee to recommend changes in the organization of the international court which would enable the United States to participate in its activities.

$33,000 LOOT MAY BE BURIED IN A CAVE NEAR DETROIT

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—A crumpled map found in the pocket of a transient in Minneapolis, may lead to the recovery of $33,000 loot said to be buried in a cave near Detroit, Minn.

It may also be the first step in solving some of the big robberies committed a few years ago.

The transient, Hilbert Nielsen, was arrested here this morning by police detectives on suspicion.

When searched, the map, drawn on a piece of writing paper, was found carefully concealed in an inside pocket. The map had been given him, he said, by a Minneapolis woman who told him she had obtained it from a man serving a life sentence at Stillwater.

The map indicated a cave near the town of Richwood, near Detroit, Minn.

Minneapolis police are investigating, and Chief Frank Brunskill said early this afternoon that detectives will probably go to Richwood with the map.

AGRICULTURAL SLUMP CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Indianapolis, Aug. 30.—A meeting of bank creditors and Governor Warren P. McCray, who today admitted heavy reverses due to the "agricultural depressino," has been called here for tomorrow.

Elmer P. Stout, president of the Fletcher Bank, one of the governor's heaviest creditors, called the meeting shortly after McCray's resignation as president of the Deposit and Discount Bank. Stout was made chairman.

Until recently McCray had been regarded as one of the financial as well as political powers of the state. He is interested in several large livestock farms and his losses were said to be in connection with these.

"Several creditors have asked if our institution would take charge of the governor's assets and distribute them among the creditors," Stout said.

McCray would neither deny or confirm reports that Tom Taggert, Indiana Democratic chief; James A. Allison, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and former Governor James P. Goodrich had raised a fund to aid him.

OPERATORS LOOK WITH DISFAVOR ON SETTLEMENT PLAN

CLAIM UNALTERABLE OPPOSITION TO SOME PHASES OF PINCHOT PROPOSAL

EFFORTS TO SECURE AGREEMENT ON SCALE OF MAINTENANCE MEN FAILED

(By United Press)

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 30.—Anthracite coal operators looked with disfavor upon certain phases of Pinchot's proposal for settlement of the coal strike.

Some operators, it was learned on indisputable authority, are unalterably opposed to complete recognition of the miners' union, against which they have fought for years.

Efforts to secure an agreement on the scale of maintenance men failed today when the miners refused the offers of the operators, the nature of which could not be learned. The decision was reached at a meeting of miners and operators early today.

The operators left for Philadelphia at 9 a. m. They will hold an executive meeting at Warriner's office and talk over the entire proposal.

Operators refused to give any public expressions of their sentiment until they submit their answers to Governor Pinchot tomorrow noon.

But it is known that several of them believe acceptance of the peace offer made by the governor would involve enormous concessions on their part. Both sides are caucusing today on the proposal, the miners here and the operators on their way to Philadelphia.

The two sides are considering the four points outlined by the governor, and there is some hope that they may be accepted.

Pinchot's proposal given out last night was:

1. A 10 per cent wage increase for the men.
2. A halfway checkoff, permitting the union to collect dues on pay day, but also providing that operators fully recognize the union.
3. Recognition of the 8-hour day.

The governor also added another point—that of recognition of the right of collective bargaining. He suggested that if miners and operators were not able to accept his proposal they should move to place the matter before a board with an impartial, non-voting chairman, who could advise them, and that if they still could not reach an agreement, he suggested that the matter be left to the miners and operators board of conciliation.

But inasmuch as only twelve hours are left until strike time, a strike is liable to ensue should either partly reject the basic offer. It seemed unlikely to observers that any step could be taken to remove the objections of either party.

The lone hope upon which Pinchot then may rely to prevent suspension of mining is the plan whereby Pinchot may seize the mines and with the help of the miners produce coal. It is known that Pinchot has been advised to appeal to the public health commissioner and declare a state of emergency, so that his administration may assume control of the mines.

The only possibility of producing coal as far as the operators are concerned is in the suggestion that Pinchot take over the operation of the mines and appeal to the laborers to save the country from a winter fuel famine.

If the operators reject his proposal, it is likely he will suggest that the miners abide by the desires of the country and leave the rest to them.

The miners are not entirely agreeable to the proposal. They want some changes, but these are mostly minor matters and could be settled after.

Floor Mat From Inner Tubes

To convert a few inner tubes into a serviceable floor mat requires but a short time and a little labor. The old tubes are first cut into strips by wetting the rubber and cutting with an old razor blade. The strips are then woven or interlaced with each other, basket fashion. The end strips are made double width and turned over. These strips should be cemented in place. A row of brass rivets, placed around the edges, improves the appearance greatly, in addition to making the mat stronger.—Automobile Digest.

CHIROPRACTIC ADDS LIFE TO YEARS AND YEARS TO LIFE

Mr. Burbank Says

"Children are like plants." They can be elevated in the scale of life by careful pruning and planting. Chiropractic holds the first place in all drugless healing methods because it aids the natural unfolding of the child's physical and mental attainments. The child expresses its life more abundantly after taking Chiropractic adjustments. Do not withhold this, the simplest method of nature, from your child. CHIROPRACTIC ADDS LIFE TO YEARS AND YEARS TO LIFE

Mr. Burbank Says

"Children are like plants." They can be elevated in the scale of life by careful pruning and planting. Chiropractic holds the first place in all drugless healing methods because it aids the natural unfolding of the child's physical and mental attainments. The child expresses its life more abundantly after taking Chiropractic adjustments. Do not withhold this, the simplest method of nature, from your child. Consultations, spinal analysis and booklets free.

COUNTY'S FIRST FAIR IN 1872

As Related In Ingolf Dillan's Book, "Brainerd's Half Century"

EXCERPTS OF BOOK PRINTED

Only Five Farms in the County in 1870. Machinery and Implements Valued at $990

Because the 1923 Crow Wing County fair is in session this week, it is apropos to call to mind that the first county fair was held in Brainerd on Saturday, October 5th, 1872, fifty-one years ago, as told in "Brainerd's Half Century" Ingolf Dillan's city anniversary book, an excerpt from which follows:

Ox Team in 50th Anniversary Parade, Brainerd

Agriculture

"Agriculture in a primitive way, was practiced to some extent by the Indians long before the first white man navigated the upper waters of the Mississippi. They gathered a harvest of wild rice each year, raised a little corn and some ponies and dogs.

"About a century ago the United States government attempted to make farmers out of the Indians in some parts of the territory, including the region about Gull river. Chief Hole-in-the-day was in charge, under the guidance of an experienced farmer. For a time the venture looked as though it might prove successful, but it failed.

"The importance of agriculture in the county in 1870 can easily be summarized from the Federal Census Reports of that year.

"There were only five farms in the county in 1870, and they were located near Crow Wing. Daniel S. Mooers owned about one-half of all the stock in the county. Timothy Mooers had nearly as much. The other three were unimportant. All five had a total of 380 acres of improved land, land and buildings having an estimated value of $10,000.

"The machinery and implements were valued at $990. Problem: how many modern tractors, mowers, hayloaders, grain binders, cornbinders, silo fillers and threshing machines will $990 buy? The crops raised were wheat, Indian corn, and oats. The live stock in the county in 1870 were: 39 horses, 1 mule, 35 milk cows, 18 working oxen, 62 other cattle, 67 swine, no sheep.

"On Juy 10, 1870, Richard Ahrens came to the present site of West Brainerd, where he took up a homestead and planted a little garden and some corn. Mr. Ahrens states that 'trees were thicker than hairs on a dog's back' farming was out of the question.

"The came the lumbermen, followed by the farmers of the eighties and nineties, raising their crops of wheat, oats and potatoes, then rye, corn and clovers.

"Agriculture did not progress very rapidly, however, until the last twenty years or so, when large farms and clearings have been made in every township, the work becoming more important each year.

"The soil in the highlands is a sandy loam and in some places a mixture of sand and clay. The soil in the lowlands is black muck, vegetable mold, and in some places peat with sand or clay subsoil.

"Most of the timber is second growth, which is easily removed. For the average farmer, the fuel problem is solved for many years to come. Much timber is cut for building purposes. There is considerable wild meadow land.

"The county is blessed with rainfall which is adequate and well distributed as to time and place. There are about 700 lakes and numerous streams, including the Father of Waters. Springs abound. Wels are drilled with the assurance of reaching cold, sparkling water at an inexpensive depth.

"The crops are many, few places presenting better opportunity for diversified farming. In addition to the grains already mentioned, the farmers raise beans, peas, potatoes, alfalfa, timothy, garden produce of all kinds, fruits and berries. Wild blueberries, strawberries, raspberries blackberries, cherries, cranberries, currants, gooseberries and thornapples are picked by a thousand families each year.

"Dairying is proving the chief source of wealth to the farmer today. At first, few of the recognized dairy breeds were raised. Now Holstein, Guernsey, Jersey, Shorthorn, Ayrshire, Red Polled and Hereford breeds are the rule. No one type is dominant.

"In 1919 the county had five creameries with an output of 374,352 pounds of butter. It also has one cheese factory, with an output of 7,300 pounds of cheese. The live stock of the county was as follows. 4,420 horses, 15,558 cattle, 6,692 sheep, and 2,702 swine.

"Poutry raising probably follows dairying in importance. More than 25,000 baby chicks were raised in the county during 1922. (E. G. Roth).

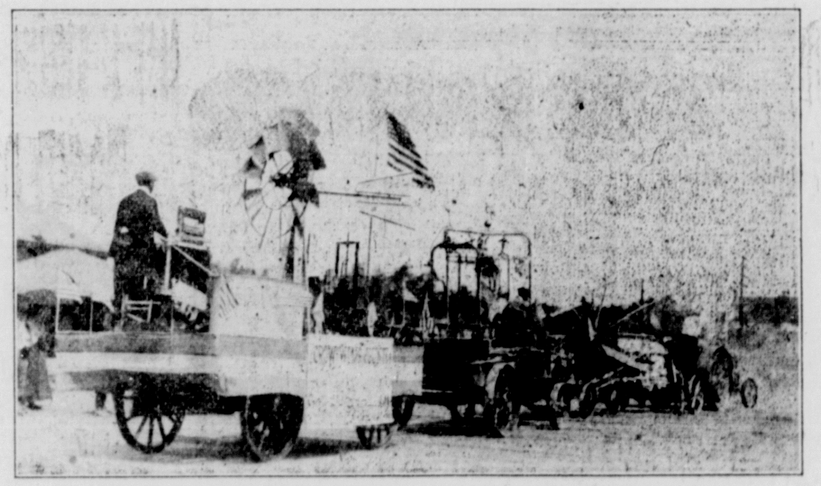

"The raising of hogs and sheep assumes greater proportions each succeeding year, there being very few of the diseases common in many other localities. Bees thrive on the clover and other flowers.

"Prosperous farms are found everywhere in the county. Farm homes equipped with furnace heat, electricity, running water, and other modern conveniences have taken the places of settlers cabins. Large, fine barns shelter valuable stock. Excellent roads, paved or graded, connect all parts of the county with splendid marketing centers. Rural schools, numbering 102 rival the city schools. Rural churches are many.

"According to the State Bureau of Immigration, Crow Wing County has a land area of 648,879 acres and a water area of 81,570 acres. The 1148 farms had a crop acreage in 1919 as follows: corn 12,149, wheat, 3,669, rye, 2,365, potatoes, 1,868, oats, 9,595, barley 680 flax, 80, hay, 31,074 a total of 61,480 acres plus gardens and miscellaneous crops. Land can be purchased at ten to one hundred dollars per acre, according to improvements and location with reference to markets. There are in the county approximately 5,000 acres of school lands unsold.

"Organizations of farmers to promote agricultural development began ten years ago with A. J. Gafke as county agent. He was followed by E. A. Colquhoun and E. G. Roth.

"The very first Crow Wing County fair was held on Saturday, October 5, 1872. Only comparatively recently, however, have these fairs developed to importance, and now they are regarded as highly worth while. The county fair is held annually at Pequot."

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL OPENS SEPTEMBER 4

Large Enrollment Is Expected, School Building Repaired, Interior Redecorated

PLAN MORE IMPROVEMENTS

Same High Standards of Scholarship Will Continue to be Maintained

St. Francis parochial school is making preparations for the opening of its fall term on Tuesday, September 4th, and a large enrollment is expected. The school building has been repaired and the interior redecorated. Several other improvements are contemplated, also.

Last year the enrollment reached the 300 mark, necessitating the use of an additional room, making a total of eight rooms, all of which will be needed again this year. All grades, from the primary to the eighth grade are taught. The principal announces that the same high standards of scholarship that were required last year will be maintained this season.

An additional music teacher has been secured, who is said to be exceptionally well qualified in training young people, both vocally and on the piano. It is hoped to build up strong classes in these two subjects, and a welcome is extended all who care to take this instruction. This teacher will also assist in the musical instruction in the parochial school.

The Sisters in charge of St. Francis school have worked hard to build up the institution, and deserve much credit for the manner in which the school is conducted and for the scholastic requirements which are rigidly adhered to.

Parents are asked to see that their children enroll on the first day of school, Tuesday, September 4th, and that absence and tardiness are kept at a minimum. It is pointed out that a child is working under a handicap who does not begin when the term starts, or who is irregular in attendance.

A more detailed account of the school and the enrolment will be available next week, after the work of the institution has begun.

"JULE" DINNERS

Deering and Clausen Remember Their Friends at Fish Dinners

Some fifteen men of the city have reason to feel that there are at least two "Jewels" in Brainerd, being ready to attest to that fact since Tuesday evening's fish dinner, at which they were guests.

Jule Deering and Jule Clausen made record catches on Sunday at one of the lakes north of Merrifield, regaling their friends with the fish story, which was doubted by many, especially by their brother firemen.

To prove that his claims were true, Jule Deering gave a fish fry at the Ideal hotel on Tuesday evening, to which he invited fifteen of the most confirmed doubters.

Wm. Larrabee, of the Ideal, outdid himself in preparing the feast. Two large platters of fish with all of the side dishes, were consumed before all appetites were satisfied.

After the repast the fish backbones at each plate were counted, and it was found that Brother Deering, beside being one of the best fishermen, is also high in the list when it comes to eating his catches.

This is the second fish dinner which has been enjoyed by the firemen and their friends this season the first being through the courtesy of A. P. Cardle and D. A. Peterson, who furnished a 43 pound muskellunge for the spread.

CROW WING COUNTY FAIR

WITH the development of diversified farming in Crow Wing county the fair will grow better and better. In the newer counties of the state, where agricultural development has not reached the point that has been attained in the older and more developed southern counties the county fair is not so easily built up to a point where it attracts even those residents in the towns and cities who are not financially interested in agriculture, except indirectly. But there are fairs in the northern part of Minnesota that have become attractive to the people of the county and surrounding counties. In some of these cases the counties are large and have abundant wealth, while in others there has been built up a consistent and growing interest in the county fair.

The growth of the agricultural interests in Crow Wing county is of supreme importance. Agriculture offers a permanent value and the development of the resources of the county means a great deal to Brainerd and its citizens. Business men and professional experts who have investigated the possibilities of the county are convinced that Crow Wing county has assets that may be developed and which when utilized will make Brainerd the center of a valuable farming territory. Already the growth of agriculture in the county is remarkable.

The county fair helps to demonstrate just what the possibilities of the land in the county are. It encourages development and stimulates the farmers in going ahead. The more attractive it can be made the more interest it creates and the greater is the enthusiasm of those who are cultivating the soil. By having the fair earlier it is possible to send on the prize-winning exhibits to the state fair where they will advertise the possibilities of Crow Wing county.

For these and other reasons all citizens of Crow Wing county should give their support to the county fair. It will be bigger and better each year as its support increases from year to year, and that will only be through the people of the county making an effort to attend. If, in the present, it is not as great as some, support in the present will make it greater in the future.

ANOTHER DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE PROPOSED

THE American Legion has made a proposal that will have the support of all those who are interested in avoiding a race for armaments which may result in another world war. Appraising the partial achievement of the Washington conference on naval armament the Legion asks that a conference be held for the purpose of limiting the growth of air armament.

In Europe the race for armament is again one of the alarming features of this decade. France, Britain, Italy and Russia have expressed the need of providing increased air armament, and in this struggle for supremacy in the air there lies the possibility of a future conflict in which all the larger nations will find themselves involved. The discussions that have taken place in the councils of the different governments indicate that the building up of these forces is directed against some other specific power whose strength in the present or potential strength they fear. France fears Germany and has developed a large air force for protection; Britain holds that German military strength is practically non-existent and that the forces assembled by France are directed against Britain and that, therefore, she must build up forces equivalent to those in the possession of France; Italy holds that for defensive purposes she must increase her air forces and Russia, fearing an attack from outside powers or, perhaps, premediating an attack on governments which are not in sympathy with her present day order, has announced the ambitious goal of 10,000 planes.

In such a situation the Legion believes that "the United States cannot stand by and twiddle its thumbs." Despite the hopeful program of those who would have America stand apart in case of another European war the probability is that this country would not be able to avoid involvement. If such a war lasted for long there would be attacks upon the property and citizens of the United States and after such had resulted from the struggle this country would be forced in for the protection of its interests. Therefore, the Legion believes that the nation which initiated the Washington conference on naval armament will not stand aside and do nothing when a contest for air armament has replaced the struggle for naval armament.

One British leader, whose voice is listened to by many people, has said that this struggle must go on until the nation that cannot keep up the pace because of the financial drain will be forced to cease production of air armament. In reply to such a position, the Manchester Guardian has pointed out that when such a time arrives the nation that has built up a strong air force and has been compelled to see its force surpassed by another power, because of the economic conditions of its national exchequer, would be likely to conclude that the only thing to do in such circumstances would be to use the forces in her possession hoping that fortuitous circumstances might give her the ascendency in a struggle in the air.

President Harding will be remembered more because of the Washington conference than any other thing and the American nation will receive a favorable verdict from history because of its initiation, and President Coolidge cannot do better than follow the lead of the ex-service men of the United States who, many of them, knowing what war means, have asked that a conference be called to limit air armament. Unless it is limited, the United States will be required to keep pace with the other nations, and it is probable that this will not be done without a strong opposition from those in this country who see the futility of such a struggle which has in it the seed of future wars.

THE AGE TO BE

CHARLES P. STEINMETZ, chief consulting engineer of the General Electric company, has told of the things that are likely to come in the period lying between the present and "a hundred years from now." The word picture painted by Mr. Steinmetz of the conditions of the world a hundred years hence is one that contains many striking colors and attracts attention.

Of course, Mr. Steinmetz is a dreamer. His dreams have affected the life of peoples in all parts of the earth. His scientific and mechanical wonders have changed conditions, and because he has dreamed such changes and brought them into being he is worthy of a place in the ranks of the modern prophets. Mr. Steinmetz looks first of all at the changes that have taken place in the past hundred years, and indicating what these have been, and naming the inventions that have brought them about, he goes on to predict what is likely to come to pass in the conditions of the world during the next hundred years.

Some of the predictions of this electrical wizard are startling but they are no more alarming than his own achievements would have seemed to people fifty years ago. He predicts that workers will toil four hours a day and only two hundred days in the year, which will give them a five months vacation in every twelve, but he does not argue in favor of these changes for "they need no argument," he says, they will come to pass in spite of all opposition, because they are in the very nature of human progress and as such are inevitable.

Mr. Steinmetz sees the world controlled by a collectivistic civilization in which the Slavic peoples will become the masters whose leadership will be trained in the East. But the ideal of a warless world will not be reached until "in the fellowship and brotherhood of rational human beings selfish aggrandizement will give way to enthusiastic and whole-hearted collective endeavor.

There is one thing that may interfere with the program and that is human nature. There have been times in the past when a splendid civilization has been wiped out and it is possible that the people will prevent the working out of a program that spells for them comfort and happiness and contentment. The achievements of science may be used to destroy the things that science might make possible for the enjoyment of all. Intellect, inventions and discoveries may be used for destructive purposes as well as for constructive ends and the present tendency lies in the direction of destruction. Unless the achievements of scientists are accompanied by "enthusiastic and whole-hearted collective endeavor," and systems of government begin to struggle for each other instead of against each other, the splendid dreams that might be realized will be wiped out in a series of cataclysms that will bring about the destruction of our civilization. People will be enjoying the benefits of inventions and discoveries one hundred years from now, or they will be attempting to restore the world to the place it had reached one hundred years before, and the decision lies in the spirit of men. Fellowship and brotherhood will make this possible, but as yet these are not dominant in world affairs or in industrial relations.

A PRESIDENT IS HUMAN

WILL ROGERS mixes a lot of common sense with his humor in his writings. In writing of the death of President Harding he says things that ought to have the attention of reception committees who are responsible for a great deal of the strain that wears upon the chief executive of the nation.

The writer would have these committees consider the physical needs of a president and, remembering that a president is human, seek to afford him an opportunity to rest and seek recreation. Holding that parades are a waste of time and a serious drain upon those who are required to stand or sit and watch the paraders pass, he would have parades banished to some side street set apart for this purpose, which would, he believes, soon result in a dearth of the popularity of the parade.

The article indicates that President Harding was a victim to his own interest in people and his innate friendliness which resulted in his attempting at all times to be approachable and helpful. "He was," says the writer, "a real honest-to-God man." Because of this men liked him, and they did not see that when they were asking him to attend all the receptions they staged for him, they were wearing down the physical strength of the one whom, because they liked him, they sought to entertain.

This is another appeal to the people to deal gently with their presidents whose humanity is often overlooked by those who fail to see that the load a president is required to carry is greater than any that can be borne by a human being. If appeals of this kind are heeded it is possible that reception committees may attempt to express their consideration by limiting their demands upon the president's time and energy, and the president himself, having seen two men break under the strain, may seek to conserve his strength by limiting the number of his engagements. It is interesting to note that President Coolidge has already cancelled his engagements made while he was vice president and he is now free to order his program in accordance with the demands made by his larger office, restricting them so that he may not overburden himself with demands that are outside of the regular requirements of his high position.

THE PLASTERER'S SUMMER TIME

THE plasterers who are pulling down $14 per day are enjoying their summer time. It is their summer time both literally and metaphorically. Just as the approaching winter will give pause to their activities so the incoming of a saner economic order will reduce the dollars they are reaping during these richly, rewarding days.

A living wage, that is a wage which enables the worker to live according to the American standard, is not only humanely dictated, it is economically desirable. But that does not excuse a wage of $14 a day for plasterers. There is something wrong somewhere when a civil engineer who has won several degrees leaves his own profession and goes to plastering because the remuneration of the plasterer is so much higher than that of the young civil engineer. Others, of other professions, have done what the civil engineer has done, they have left their occupations and have joined the plasterer in enjoying his summer time.

Fourteen dollars a day paid to the plasterer means certain things to the people of our cities. The civil engineer who has joined the plasterers may be able to pay the high rents that must follow such wages in the building trade, but what of those who stuck to their profession and are required to pay high rents because of the high cost of building? There is another result of such wages, to which Dr. Charles W. Elliot, President Emeritus of Harvard, has called attention. The increased cost of home building influences the American mode of living because it tends to a decrease in the number of home owners or to cheap and shoddy building.

When the plasterer draws his $14 a day he shows that he is no more considerate of his fellows than the capitalist, employer or property owner whom he often condemns because of their inconsiderate viewpoint. It seems true that few in any walk of life have learned the lesson that no man liveth to himself. The plasterer's wage in this his summer time is having its effect upon the renters and home owners in our cities, it is helping to decrease the number of home owners and is inducing builders to erect shoddy buildings and both of these have their influence on the American mode of living. The pleasures of one man's or one group's summer time may make another man's or another group's winter harder.

GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT, the apostle of re-forestation, has forgotten the matter of conserving timber, for a while, and he seeks to assure the production of coal. The trouble in both cases, that of timber and coal, is extravagance. "As long as we have it in abundance; use it, burn it," we say.

THE cool weather is leading to predictions. Some say that we are in for an early fall while others are confident that we are to enjoy an extended Indian summer. One of these predictions will be right, unless both are wrong.

AUTOMOBILE accidents will be fewer after a while. When the cars are put in for the winter, the toll will not be so great. Most things are seasonal, including baseball, football, automobile fatality records and anthracite strikes.

A JEALOUS wife slashes her artist husband's pictures and then tries suicide. Good pictures must have been destroyed, for it was of the pictures the good wife was jealous. Poor pictures!

A MUNICIPAL heating plant would save a lot of labor and a lot of worry. Anthracite wouldn't be needed in the community furnace.

For these and other reasons all citizens of Crow Wing county should give their support to the county fair. It will be bigger and better each year as its support increases from year to year, and that will only be through the people of the county making an effort to attend. If, in the present, it is not as great as some, support in the present will make it greater in the future.

ANOTHER DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE PROPOSED

THE American Legion has made a proposal that will have the support of all those who are interested in avoiding a race for armaments which may result in another world war. Appraising the partial achievement of the Washington conference on naval armament the Legion asks that a conference be held for the purpose of limiting the growth of air armament.

In Europe the race for armament is again one of the alarming features of this decade. France, Britain, Italy and Russia have expressed the need of providing increased air armament, and in this struggle for supremacy in the air there lies the possibility of a future conflict in which all the larger nations will find themselves involved. The discussions that have taken place in the councils of the different governments indicate that the building up of these forces is directed against some other specific power whose strength in the present or potential strength they fear. France fears Germany and has developed a large air force for protection; Britain holds that German military strength is practically non-existent and that the forces assembled by France are directed against Britain and that, therefore, she must build up forces equivalent to those in the possession of France; Italy holds that for defensive purposes she must increase her air forces and Russia, fearing an attack from outside powers or, perhaps, premediating an attack on governments which are not in sympathy with her present day order, has announced the ambitious goal of 10,000 planes.

In such a situation the Legion believes that "the United States cannot stand by and twiddle its thumbs." Despite the hopeful program of those who would have America stand apart in case of another European war the probability is that this country would not be able to avoid involvement. If such a war lasted for long there would be attacks upon the property and citizens of the United States and after such had resulted from the struggle this country would be forced in for the protection of its interests. Therefore, the Legion believes that the nation which initiated the Washington conference on naval armament will not stand aside and do nothing when a contest for air armament has replaced the struggle for naval armament.

One British leader, whose voice is listened to by many people, has said that this struggle must go on until the nation that cannot keep up the pace because of the financial drain will be forced to cease production of air armament. In reply to such a position, the Manchester Guardian has pointed out that when such a time arrives the nation that has built up a strong air force and has been compelled to see its force surpassed by another power, because of the economic conditions of its national exchequer, would be likely to conclude that the only thing to do in such circumstances would be to use the forces in her possession hoping that fortuitous circumstances might give her the ascendency in a struggle in the air.

President Harding will be remembered more because of the Washington conference than any other thing and the American nation will receive a favorable verdict from history because of its initiation, and President Coolidge cannot do better than follow the lead of the ex-service men of the United States who, many of them, knowing what war means, have asked that a conference be called to limit air armament. Unless it is limited, the United States will be required to keep pace with the other nations, and it is probable that this will not be done without a strong opposition from those in this country who see the futility of such a struggle which has in it the seed of future wars.

THE AGE TO BE

CHARLES P. STEINMETZ, chief consulting engineer of the General Electric company, has told of the things that are likely to come in the period lying between the present and "a hundred years from now." Mr. Steinmetz looks first of all at the changes that have taken place in the past hundred years, and indicating what these have been, and naming the inventions that have brought them about, he goes on to predict what is likely to come to pass in the conditions of the world during the next hundred years.

MacMahon of Duluth, writing under the nom de plume of "Mac" gives a glowing description of Crow Wing and Aitkin counties as he found it on his tour. The headlines to the article read "Land of Milk and Honey at Duluth's Side Door; Pathfinder goes Nosing into Crow Wing, Aitkin Counties, Seeking Unusual; Comes out Enthusiastic; Sees Pastoral Plenty in Country of Hardwood Forests, Purebred Cattle, Fruit, Vegetable Eldorado, Amid Myriad Bass Lakes."

It may be mentioned that the Civic & Commerce Association publicity and conventions committee chairman helped MacMahon see some of the fine country in Brainerd by taking Mr. and Mrs. MacMahon out in his car.

"Mac" writes as follows:

There is a land of milk and honey, of exotic fruits thriving in riotous exuberance of growth in a seeming alien clime; where the drone of the bee in its pursuit of alfalfa-scented honey croons amid pastoral scenes unexcelled in the commonwealth of Minnesota; where each farm has its lake and each lake its fighting bigmouthed bass of weighty dimensions —and into this land of verftable plenty, seeking and finding something new to tell to those who go awheel to new places, also to seek and find, went The News Tribune Pathfinder. And the country above briefly and inadequately described is within a scant 100 miles of Duluth, in Aitkin and Crow Wing counties, Minnesota.

Go to Aitkin

To get there is a matter of finding No. 2 state highway at Duluth, then follow through to the incorporated village of Aitkin. Thence turn right or left—go where the roadways branch off—anywhere, everywhere, for miles on end, and you will be surrounded by farms producing everything from peanuts to muskmelons, watermelons, high stands of edible corn, plums, eight varieties of crabappies, home-made maple syrup, grapes galore, three varieties; wheat, oats, alfalfa, with pure bred Holsteins knee-deep in luxuriant pasturage; and atop this land of bright sunshine and ground productive of all of man's wants, towers hardwood forests untouched by man and in the heart of each forest a solitary white pine throws aloft its evergreen foliage to make contrast with maples now turning scarlet.

Many Lakes

And lakes! Around Aitkin alone there is a lake for each blessed day of the year—365 within an hour's slow ride; and each the haunt of the bass, the crappie, the bullhead catfish. It is an angler's paradise. Bass run from 1½ to 6 pounds as a rule and each one caught teaches the angler that the bass is an accumulative student in the wiles of unhooking from the barb. Right now bass are striking frogs with vim and hungry abandon, and if one tires of catching bass—who does?—or if one's string of the game fellows exceeds decency, then bait up with a piece of clam, of which the lakes are plentifully supplied and most of them are inshore and easily obtainable from a boat, and go after the bullhead catfish which run around a pound and a quarter in weight and seemingly are up there in countless thousands in every lake.

Then, take a crack at the crappies. They come big in Aitkin and Crow Wing counties, and they, too, like the clam meat and bite readily. The Pathfinder saw a crappie caught on trout tackle and the fish weighed a pound and a half.

And all three varieties came from the same "fishin' hole" in a lake; the bass ride the surface waters, the crappies are below them in the next watery strata, and down at the bottom lurks the bullhead.

A good way to get into this Eldorado of fruit and game fish is to work about for 50 miles each side, north and south, between Brainerd and Aitkin. And close to Brainerd you will find Big Pelican lake and on it the famous Fawcett resort, "Breezy Point," where a man has transferred all of an expensive flat's conveniences into the wilderness and, withal, kept the wilderness wild; and other resorts, perhaps not so modern, but nevertheless excellent, each noted for at least one reason for its existence—either duck or partridge shooting or bass fishing.

But it is the country and the farmers who have made the district notable by their agricultural aptness that lends charm and worth to Aitkin and Crow Wing counties, and it was to the country and its farmers that the Pathfinder went for information and for a look at their rolling acres amid the hardwoods in which one continually runs across surprises. It is no unusual sight to see a thousand watermelons and muskmelons ripening on the vine out there in the fields of sandy loam. And punctuating the melon fields at regular intervals plum trees with their branches propped up to support the weight of literally millions of luscious fruitage are the usual thing. Along the back acre fences crabapple trees droop under the fruit they bear. "Garden truck," beets, radishes, onions, endive, cauliflower, tomatoes, potatoes all run riotous in seeming endless variety and measure. Aitkin and Crow Wing farmers will tell you that on their farms there is everything growable in any section of the great northwest and a lot of things usually believed geographically suited for California and Florida.

"Yes—We Have 'Em!"

"Yes—we have no bananas!" quoted the Pathfinder to one farmer, J. A. Beauchamps (pronounced Beechams), from whose little farm away back in Aitkin county on a road never intended for the four wheels of an automobile the seeker after information and bass found him.

"Oh, yes," grinned the farmer, "we have bananas — the banana muskmelon," and he went out behind the house and cut loose one of the strangest of fruits grown north of the Mason and Dixie line. The melon is about two feet long, resembles a banana in shape and is said to be a true muskmelon of delicious flavor.

And there was corn 15 feet high and containing four ears of bantam a foot long and another variety, known as squaw corn, (very good on the table), 16 feet high; two varieties of wheat, one of oats, eight kinds of apples and crabs, eight kinds of plums, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, ground cherries, castor oil beans, (the kind from which the federal government obtained the lubricant for the airplane motors during the World War); peanuts, a field of them, growing for a St. Paul wholesaler; three varieties of potatoes—and what else? Beets, onions, everything!

"The wife hasn't been very well, and neither have I," Mr. Beauchamps told the Pathfinder, "and we are not attempting to run the farm full force."

Then he showed his grapes. They lay sprawled out on the ground, a hundred feet long in a row and three varieties of them, and under the leaves, the latter as big as murdock leaves, hung the fruit in plenty.

Down the roadway leading to the farm a doe and her fawn had passed and left their print in the sands.

Taken all in all, the country abounds in everything man may desire. There are thousands of purebred Holsteins producing "the anchor to windward" for the farmers, and on their ground grow in abundance everything necessary for the maintenance of life; the country, generally, makes one think of the Horn of Plenty, of abundance, of bulging crops, of contented cows, of healthful folk back there, carefree and enjoying life to the uttermost at a minimum of effort. For, as Mr. Beauchamps' wife said, "We just stick the seeds into the ground and up they come and grow big for us." They have been there for 21 years.

Duluthians have found, in a small degree, the country under discussion. Some have located on lakes near Aitkin or at Deerwood; many of Duluth's important people have found Breezy Point, and the Pathfinder saw them or read the names of them in the "lodge" book. And Breezy Point is but one of the many wonderful resorts between Duluth and Brainerd; there are great places to go to at Minnewawa lake, at Big Sandy, and at many, many other lakes, for Brainerd is the acknowledged gateway to the "ten thousand lakes of Minnesota," and is the headquarters for tourists.

A word about a campsite. Brainerd has all of 'em beaten! Electric light, gas stoves with free gas; hot and cold water; showers; and all of it in a park atop the Mississippi river, all free, and all right!

So that then, in brief, is a little sumary of Crow Wing and Aitkin summary of Crow Wing and Aitkin surface. Presently The News Tribune will take up and describe and picturize the country seen by the Pathfinder and tell more intimately of the Cuyuna range and its villages and towns. There will be articles concerning Brainerd, Crosby, Deerwood, Ironton and Aitkin appearing in subsequent editions of The News Tribune.

COUNTRY CLUB HAS WIENER ROAST

Wieners Roasted and Made Foundation for Sandwiches of Satisfying Luncheon

"DROP THE HANDKERCHIEF"

Manager Hiller Then Invited Whole Assemblage to Attend Show at Lyceum Theatre

Some fifty members of the Brainerd Country Club enjoyed the wiener roast staged at the club house on Tuesday evening.

The weather was ideal for this event. A big fire was built around which all gathered. Wieners were roasted and made the foundation for sandwiches. Potato salad, toasted marshmallows and coffee completed the luncheon.

The ear y evening was spent in playing old-fashioned games around the fire. "Drop the handkerchief" and "Pon Pom pull-away" proved the most popular.

To complete a most enjoyable evening, Manager W. R. Hiller of the Lyceum invited the assemblage to attend the second performance at this theatre as his guests.

The last big event of this year's golf season is to be staged on Labor Day, when the Little Falls team, composed of twelve players, comes to Brainerd for a return tournament. Play will begin promptly at 1:30 Monday afternoon. Little Falls has a strong team, which defeated the locals in a tournament played early in the season in the down-river city. Brainerd hopes to get revenge on Labor day.

The Brainerd Country Club feels that it has had a most successful season this year, a fact which is very gratifying to the officers, and which will have much bearing on the activities already being planned for next year.

DRAFT DODGER'S TREASURE HOUSE

Washington, Aug. 28.—Money found by Lee Houser near Hagerstown, Md., is Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's buried treasure, in the opinion of officials here.

Alien Property Custodian Miller announced that an inquiry will be continued with a view to seizure of the money if it actually proves to be that buried by the draft dodger.

Ancient bathtubs of kings had one pair of steps for the rulers to mount the platform and enter the tub and several smaller flights of stairs at each end for attendants to carry up vases of scented water which they would throw on their master.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-Time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend the ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Advt.

The Difference in Advertising is the Difference in Men

Of itself, advertising is little. And the differences in it are the differences which exist in men.

Just as some men are strong and virile and interesting, so is some advertising. And just as some men are ineffectual and weak and boring, so is some other advertising.

"Does it pay to advertise?" It pays those men who are keen enough students of the public to make it pay them. It pays those men who are truthful, sincere, interesting and believable.

It pays the men whose product deserves the payment, whose brains are keen enough to organize for success and judge enough of the human mind to know how to tell their story with sincerity and interest.

So when you judge advertising, judge it by how it is used and by whom—not of itself and of itself alone.

Remember, an ugly man looks just as ugly in a mirror.

"Pathfinder" Car of William B. MacMahon of Duluth News Tribune Goes Nosing Around

SEES PASTORAL PLENTY THERE

Sunday Article Aug. 26 Pays Tribute to Brainerd, Gateway to 10,000 Lakes, and to Tourist Camp

Under a seven column heading in Sunday's Duluth News Tribune of August 26, William B. The weather was ideal for this event. A big fire was built around which all gathered. Wieners were roasted and made the foundation for sandwiches. Potato salad, toasted marshmallows and coffee completed the luncheon.

The ear y evening was spent in playing old-fashioned games around the fire. "Drop the handkerchief" and "Pon Pom pull-away" proved the most popular.

To complete a most enjoyable evening, Manager W. R. Hiller of the Lyceum invited the assemblage to attend the second performance at this theatre as his guests.

The last big event of this year's golf season is to be staged on Labor Day, when the Little Falls team, composed of twelve players, comes to Brainerd for a return tournament. Play will begin promptly at 1:30 Monday afternoon. Little Falls has a strong team, which defeated the locals in a tournament played early in the season in the down-river city. Brainerd hopes to get revenge on Labor day.

The Brainerd Country Club feels that it has had a most successful season this year, a fact which is very gratifying to the officers, and which will have much bearing on the activities already being planned for next year.

FIVE GUNMEN ROB ALLEGED GAMBLING HOUSE CASHIER

(By United Press)

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 29. — Five gunmen held up Leon Kreel, cashier of an alleged gambling house here last night and relieved him of between $50,000 and $60,000, according to information in the hands of the police today.

DRAFT DODGER'S TREASURE HOUSE

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 28.—Money found by Lee Houser near Hagerstown, Md., is Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's buried treasure, in the opinion of officials here.

Alien Property Custodian Miller announced that an inquiry will be continued with a view to seizure of the money if it actually proves to be that buried by the draft dodger.

Luxurious "Tubbing."

Ancient bathtubs of kings had one pair of steps for the rulers to mount the platform and enter the tub and several smaller flights of stairs at each end for attendants to carry up vases of scented water which they would throw on their master.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-Time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend the ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Advt.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, District of Minnesota, Fourth Division.

S. F. Grover, Plaintiff, vs. Merritt Development Company, Defendant.

ORDER DIRECTING SALE OF LEASES.

The above entitled action having duly come on for hearing on the 4th day of August, 1923, upon the petition of Neal Crowley, Receiver of said defendant, for an order authorizing the sale of the two leases of iron mining property hereinafter and in said petition described, and upon the order for hearing thereon dated July 26th, 1923, James E. Trask, Esq., appearing as attorney for said Receiver, and Harris Richardson, Esq., and C. L. Smith, Esq., appearing as attorneys for the High Grade Manganese Company; and it appearing to the Court that notice of said hearing was duly given, and that said defendant is insolvent and that it is for the best interest of defendant and its creditors that all of the remaining assets of said defendant be sold and its affairs closed, and that the principal remaining assets of said defendant consist of said above-mentioned leases and the mining machinery and equipment appertaining thereto;

And it appearing to the Court that by one of said leases the High Grade Manganese Company, the lessor therein, leased to said defendant, the lessee, the Northwest Quarter of the Southwest Quarter (NW¼ of SW¼) of Section Thirty-three (33), Township Forty-seven (47), Range Twenty-nine (29) West, situated in Crow Wing County, Minnesota, for the term from August 1, 1916, the date of said lease, to August 7, 1937; that the forfeiture clause in said lease provides that if said lessee fails to pay said taxes or royalties the lessor may, at its option, re-enter upon said land and have possession thereof until such default of the lessee shall be removed; that by the other of said leases, the Gorham-Garbett Company, the lessor therein, leased to Charles W. Potts and others, the lessees therein, for the term of fifty (50) years after April 1, 1916, the date of said lease, the West Half of the Northwest Quarter (W½ of NW¼) of said Section Thirty-three (33); that both of said leases were for the purpose of enabling the lessee in said leases, respectively, to mine and remove from said leased property all iron and manganese ore and exercise the rights incidental thereto; that by the terms of said leases the respective lessees therein agreed to pay all taxes and assessments thereafter levied or assessed upon said land and the products therefrom, and the improvements thereon, and to pay the royalties provided by said leases respectively; that on the —— day of May, 1916, said last mentioned lease was duly assigned by the lessees therein named, to said defendants; that said defendant in developing mines upon the premises described in said leases has constructed and placed upon said leased premises mining shafts, with the cables, skips, machinery, buildings, tools and other necessary equipment for operating such mines; and that defendant is in possession of the whole of said leased premises;

And it further appearing to the Court that said defendant is indebted under each of said leases for both taxes and royalties, that indebtedness of said defendant for royalties under its said lease from High Grade Manganese Company to the amount of twenty-eight thousand one hundred twenty-five and 21-100 dollars ($28,125.21), including interest, and indebtedness of defendant for royalties under its said lease from the Gorham-Garbett Company to the amount of nine thousand sixty-two and 73-100 dollars ($9,062.73), including interest, has been filed and allowed herein;

Now, Therefore, on motion of James E. Trask, attorney for said Receiver,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that said leases, and each of them, and all of defendant's interest therein and in the premises in each of them described, together with all of defendant's right, title and interest in the improvements, machinery, buildings, tools and other mining equipment now upon said leased premises be sold, subject to all taxes and assessments thereon, at public auction, by Neal Crowley, Receiver of Merritt Development Company, the above named defendant, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Brainerd in said Crow Wing County on the 25th day of September, 1923, at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day; that at said sale said lease by said High Grade Manganese Company, together with all of defendant's right, title and interest in the land described therein, and in the improvements, machinery, buildings, tools and other equipment upon said land, be first offered for sale separately from said Gorham-Garbett Company lease, and its appurtenances, and bids received therefor; that at said sale said lease by said Gorham-Garbett Company, together with all of defendant's right, title and interest in the land described therein and in the improvements, machinery, buildings and other equipment upon said land, be next offered for sale and bids received therefor; that thereafter at said sale both of said leases, together with all of defendant's right, title and interest in the lands described therein and in the improvements, machinery, buildings, tools and other equipment upon said lands, be offered for sale together in one parcel and bids received therefor; and that all of said bids be then considered and the bid or bids accepted which will bring the highest and best price for the lands and property sold, such acceptance and sale to be subject to confirmation by the Court;

PROVIDED HOWEVER, AND IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the minimum price or consideration for the purchase at said sale, of said lease, by said High Grade Manganese Company and defendant's right, title and interest in the land therein described and in the improvements, buildings and tools and other equipment on said land, shall be a sum equal to the said amount of defendant's said indebtedness for royalties on said lease as herein allowed and all indebtedness for royalties on said lease, or, in lieu thereof, a release and satisfaction in full of all said indebtedness, and in addition to such sum or release the further sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00); that the minimum price or consideration for the purchase at said sale of said lease by said Gorham-Garbett Company, and defendant's right, title and interest in the land therein described and in the improvements, machinery, buildings and other equipment on said land, shall be a sum equal to the said amount of defendant's said indebtedness for royalties on said lease as herein allowed and all indebtedness for royalties on said lease, or, in lieu thereof, a release and satisfaction in full of all said indebtedness, and in addition to such sum or release the further sum of Seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($7,500.00); and that the minimum price or consideration for the purchase together in one parcel, at said sale, of both of said leases, and defendant's interest in the lands therein described and in the improvements, buildings, machinery, tools and other equipment thereon, in the event that said leases are not sold separately, shall be a sum equal to the amount of defendant's said indebtedness for royalties on both of said leases, and all indebtedness for royalties on said leases, to-wit: the sum of thirty-seven thousand one hundred eighty-seven and 94-100 dollars ($37,187.94), including interest as herein allowed, or, in lieu thereof, releases and satisfactions in full of all said indebtedness, and in addition to such sum or releases the further sum of of seventeen thousand five hundred dollars ($17,500.00);

And Provided Further that no bids shall be accepted at said sale unless the bidder deposit with the Receiver, in money or by check, ten per cent (10%) of the amount of his bid; that said money or check shall be credited on account of the purchase price, in case the sale to such bidder is confirmed, the same otherwise to be returned to such bidder; that in case the sale to any bidder is confirmed by the court, notice of such confirmation shall at once be given to such bidder, who shall within five days thereafter pay the remaining ninety per cent (90%) of his bid to said receiver to abide further order of the court, and in default thereof such bidder shall forfeit the money or check so deposited to be applied towards payment of the expenses of the sale and the loss, if any, to the receivership resulting from such default; and that upon the confirmation of the sale of any parcel and the payment to the receiver of the amount bid therefor, the receiver shall execute and deliver to the purchaser good and sufficient instruments of conveyance of the property purchased:

And it is hereby further ordered that notice of such sale be given by publishing a copy of this order for four successive weeks in The Minneapolis Tribune, a newspaper printed and published in the City of Minneapolis, in the State of Minnesota and in the Herald, a newspaper printed and published in the City of Duluth, in said State, and also in the Plaindealer, a newspaper printed and published in the City of St. James, in said State, and in the Dispatch, a newspaper printed and published in said City of Brainerd, and by mailing a copy of said order and notice to each of the creditors of said defendant whose claim has been filed and allowed herein, at least three weeks prior to the date of such sale.

WILBUR F. BOOTH,
70t4 Judge of the U. S. District Court.

The Difference in Advertising is the Difference in Men

Of itself, advertising is little. And the differences in it are the differences which exist in men.

Just as some men are strong and virile and interesting, so is some advertising. And just as some men are ineffectual and weak and boring, so is some other advertising.

"Does it pay to advertise?" It pays those men who are keen enough students of the public to make it pay them. It pays those men who are truthful, sincere, interesting and believable.

It pays the men whose product deserves the payment, whose brains are keen enough to organize for success and judge enough of the human mind to know how to tell their story with sincerity and interest.

So when you judge advertising, judge it by how it is used and by whom—not of itself and of itself alone.

Remember, an ugly man looks just as ugly in a mirror.

Ray Directs and Stars in "Smudge"

Charles Ray in "Smudge," released by First National, will be seen last time tonight at the New Park. Ray directed the production, in addition to playing the stellar role in it, and Rob Wagner, Saturday Evening Post author, wrote the story.

The story has its locale in the little town of Citrona, situated in the citrus belt of Southern California and has a background of extreme beauty and appeal. Ray is cast as a newspaper man who finds that his editorial policy conflicts with the public opinion of the town — and that of the rival sheet—and he runs into more trouble than he had ever encountered before.

Adventures at Sea

"On the High Seas," a Paramount production, co-starring Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt at the Lyceum Theatre, had a deservedly auspicious opening last night. There is action enough in this production to satisfy the most avid movie fan, for it includes in detail the burning and sinking of an ocean liner, the thrilling experiences of a girl and two men in an open boat in mid-ocean, their finding and running of a death-filled plague ship, the eventual sinking of the vessel by an American battleship and a fascinating kidnaping of a bride at the church door.

Thrilling Sea Picture

Appearing in one of the strongest sea pictures ever screened, Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt, featured players, will be seen in Paramount's "On the High Seas" at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Thursday. The action opens on an ocean liner, which is wrecked and the principal players are saved in a leaky boat when almost dead from thirst and exhaustion, run upon a derelict which is deserted save for a black kitten, all on board having died from a plague.

Advice to Girls

There's a caution for girls voiced in "A Daughter of Luxury," Agnes Ayres new Paramount picture coming to the Lyceum Theatre on next Thursday and Friday. It is to never believe you recognize a gentleman friend on the street by the set or size or shape of his shoulders. If you do, you are liable to get fooled as Mary Fenton, the role played by Miss Ayres, did. Mary sees a man on the street whose shoulders (he is back to her) look familiar. She hurries up to him, glad to see anyone from her home town, who may help her in her plight, for she is hungry and destitute. She speaks his name joyfully—the man turns, and he proves a complete stranger to her. Frightfuly embarrassed, Mary stammers an apology and flees. The man folows her. What happened the picture thrilingly shows. Tom Gallery is leading man.

If you do, you are liable to get fooled as Mary Fenton, the role played by Miss Ayres, did. Mary sees a man on the street whose shoulders (he is back to her) look familiar. She hurries up to him, glad to see anyone from her home town, who may help her in her plight, for she is hungry and destitute. She speaks his name joyfully—the man turns, and he proves a complete stranger to her. Frightfuly embarrassed, Mary stammers an apology and flees. The man folows her. What happened the picture thrilingly shows. Tom Gallery is leading man.

IMPROVING CITY PARK SYSTEM

Program Mapped Out For The Next Five Years at Park Board Meeting Tuesday

TO ADD TO LUM PARK AREA

Gregory Park Board Stand and Pergolas to be Painted, Tourist Park Improvements to be Made

A program of improvements covering a period of five years, was mapped out by the Brainerd park board at its meeting on Tuesday night. This program is to be started immediately, and as much as possible completed each year, with the idea of making the parks of the city the finest in this section of the state.

Lum park wil come in for a large share of the improvements that are to be started at once. A triangular strip of land lying along the road to the park, between the creek bridge and the park entrance, will be added to the present grounds, and will be improved by clearing, brushing, and the starting of lawns and flower beds.

It is planned to move the bath houses west about two hundred feet from their present location, and rebuild them on higher ground. Situated as they now are, near the bank of the lake, the ice damages them each year. Pretty lawns are to be started between the driveway and the lake shore where the bath house now stand, and where an unobstructed view may be had of the bathing beach when the houses are moved.

The floor in the dance pavilion is giving considerable trouble, and is to be repaired at once. On account of faulty construction, it is said, the sills beneath the floor have rotted out, and it is planned to take up the floor and replace these sills. If this work should be deayed until next year the repair expense would be greater, due to the damage that would result from the delay.

Gregory park, too, is coming in for its share of improvements before this season closes. The trees in this park are to be trimmed, and the band stand and pergolas repainted, trellises repaired, and the park generally put in better condition.

Tourist park is to have toilet facilities and shower baths enlarged, trees planted, trellises added, driveway made more picturesque, and a pergola entrance of logs added. It will continue to conform to the most sanitary requirements. To date over 12,000 tourists have registered at the park and enjoyed its facilities and conveniences.

The park board has subdivided its labors so that Hugo A. Kaatz is in charge of Lum park, T. H. Schaefer has Gregory park and Carl Wright the Tourist park.

Citizens have made more use of the city parks this year than in past seasons, and the board is well pleased with this patronage, and the interest taken in these recreation spots.

NOTICE

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned until Sept. 8, to remove old paint and repaint school house in district 57, two coats. Board reserves right to reject any or all bids. C. C. Skilling, Clerk Gen. Del. Brainerd. 76t4eod;

CALLED TO DEVILS LAKE

Rev. S. M. Kelly, pastor of Brainerd Presbyterian Church, to Leave for New Charge

Rev. S. M. Kelly, pastor of the Brainerd Presbyterian church for the past three years, has been called to the Westminster Presbyterian church of Devils Lake, N. D., and expects to be released by the local church, so that he may go to his new field by October 1st at the latest.

This news comes as a shock to members of his congregation here and to his many friends outside the church. Rev. Kelly has served the Brainerd parish for over three years, and in that time has endeared himself not only to those of his own denomination, but all with whom he came in contact. It is with deep regret that these friends will learn of his contemplated change.

REV. S. M. KELLY

Rev. Kelly and his good wife have been very active in everything which concerns the welfare of their church. Through their efforts the congregation has been encouraged to a greater work, and the membership has enjoyed a healthy growth. The interest which these leaders have taken in the welfare of the church has been imparted to the members themselves, with the most gratifying results.

Not only in his church has Rev. Kelly's influence been felt, but throughout the entire community, for he has taken an active interest in civic affairs, and in fact, everything which tends to develop Brainerd, and make it a better city in which to live.

That his ability is recognized in Minnesota is evidenced by the fact that several informal offers have been made from churches in other cities, offers which would have been confirmed had Rev. Kelly been inclined to consider them. One of these calls came from the large community church in Grand Rapids, composed of three congregations that have banded together for more effective work.

While Rev. Kelly's loss will be keenly felt by the local church, the congregation will feel that the Devils Lake call is in the form of an advancement, and will hasten to bid him Godspeed and wish him success in his new field.

Because of the sudden decision of the pastor's to leave this parish, no thought has been given as to his successor, but this will undoubtedly be settled by the time the Red River Presbytery meets about the middle of September.

Rev. Kelly and family are now enjoying a month's vacation in an automobile trip through Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, and are expected home Friday or Saturday. It is his intention to fill his pulpit on next Sunday.

SPORTS

PICKING WINNER OF GREB-WILSON FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 30.—Harry Greb, the "windmill" from Pittsburgh, is going after the middleweight championship here tomorrow night when he meets Johnny Wilson, the alleged champion.

Like the bird in Shelby, who won a yacht in a raffle, the question arises: "What will Greb do with the title when he gets it?"

All there is to the title that is now possessed by Wilson is some glory that might be attached to any kind of a championship, and after the disrepute that Wilson dragged the class into, there is darned little of that attached to the crown.

Wilson has made little more than the proverbial dime out of the championship, and he acted so in restraint of trade that it will take a new firm years to build up business again.

Despite the insistence with which he maintains that he can make the weight, Greb is no middleweight, and if he is called upon or required to do much in defense of the title he will be sure to go the way of Joe Gans.

Greb is none too rugged, even as a light-heavyweight. He has been in bad health and he has drained his resources by much fighting and hard fighting. He has also failed to adhere strictly to a life of training.

So far, this sounds as if Greb already had won the championship from Wilson. He is not yet in possession of the title and perhaps he is a very great distance from it.

Wilson was made a favorite in the early betting, for reasons that might be hard to explain, considering the form that he has shown as a fighter, and most of the experts believe that he has more than an even chance to retain his title.

There was a story printed several weeks ago that the fight had been fixed, that Greb was to take a flop and then alibi that he was weakened too much by making the weight.

Such stories, although granting the fact that fights have been fixed in the past and that they may be fixed now, are entitled to little consideration.

* * * * * * * *

Before the Leonard-Tendler fight whispers went around, started perhaps by gamblers who wanted the odds reduced, that Tendler was going to take an "out" on a foul and that they would fight again next year.

Such stories are a great injustice to Greb. He may have his faults, but certainly no one can remember anything that he has done in the past that could have caused the slightest suspicion. Like Johnny Dundee, Greb has built up a tremendous following because every time he was named as one fighter in a bout, the fans knew that they would see a lot of action and that they would get their money's worth.

Greb and Dundee have a lot in common. They have both been forced out of their class because boxers their own weight couldn't be dragged into the ring with them. Since he was a light-middleweight several years ago, Greb has fought anyone offered him at any weight. He gave away pounds and pounds and always made a good showing.

* * * * * * * * *

No fight of the hectic summer of fights and fights has had the experts guessing as much as the world's middleweight championship bout here tomorrow night.

As a rule, in doping and in betting on the outcome of a fight, the champion possesses the known quantities and what experting is to be done revolves around the prospects of the challenger.

In this unusual case it is just the opposite. Everyone knows the capabilities of Greb, and no one is sure of what Wilson will turn out to be when he is subjected to the real test that he is found to face.

Wilson sort of sneaked into the championship and he has sneaked more as the champion. He won the title from Mike O'Dowd in Boston on a decision and O'Dowd shouted to the world that he had been made the victim of larceny. Wilson gave him a return bout in New York, and although he failed to show any kind of championship ability, he did beat O'Dowd, and in the poverty-stricken condition of the class it meant that he was the champion sure enough.

Wilson fought the rugged Bryan Downey in Cleveland and he was floored and saved by what the ringsiders maintained was a most generous and considerate count on the part of the referee. The champion then took Downey back on for a no-decision thing in Jersey City and the exhibition was so terrible that Tex Rickard refused to pay Wilson his purse.

More troubles followed for the champion. When he tried to get his money, Rickard forced him to sign an agreement to fight Harry Greb. Wilson signed the agreement, got his money and then told Rickard to jump himself into the well-known lake.

The New York boxing commission then suspended Wilson for failing to defend his title and announced that Greb had become the champion through a sort of default process.

Matters were further complicated when Greb proceeded to win the American light-heavyweight championship and decided that he didn't care to monkey around and defend what claim he had on the middleweight title.

Finally, after months of wrangling, the Wilson-Greb match was made, Wilson was reinstated by the boxing commission and they are going to have it out.

In winning the championship and in the few times that he stepped out of the set-up class to defend the title, Wilson showed himself to be so bad that he was dubbed "the cheese champion."

He follows the southpaw style of fighting with his right hand and his right foot extended, and it is a rather annoying style to beat. He is of rugged build and has enough power in his back, shoulders and arms to be a good hitter, if he knows how to get the most of his possibilities.

Some supporters of Wilson have maintained that he is a good fighter and a worthy champion and that he would prove it the first time he faced a real, capable opponent. He will have that opportunity in his fight with Greb, but bettors are asking more than assurance from his friends that he is a real fighter.

CARBIS WALKER TRAINS FOR CHANNEL ATTEMPT

Dover, Eng., Aug. 30. — Carbis Walker, Cleveland, who plans to follow up his recent swim across Lake Erie with the conquest of the British channel, has been showing fine speed in his practice.

He used the crawl stroke exclusively. He intends to attempt the crossing on the first favorable day, asserting that calm weather is more important to his style than are slack tides. Rough seas have been running for several days and the winds have been strong.

Haugdahl Sets Records

Mandell Gets Draw

Cincinnati, Aug. 30—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., lightweight, and K. O. Mars, of Cincinnati, fought a fast 10 round draw here last night.

FIRPO NOT WORRYING OVER NEXT MEAL

New York, Aug. 29.—That date Jack Dempsey has to settle a quarrel with Luis Angel Firpo is not worrying him any more than the problem of where he is to get his next meal. The champion is taking a couple of days off to romp about a bit.

All of which points to the belief that he feels there is little need of intensive training to fit himself to battle this alleged Wild Bull of the Pampas. A lot of wise folks of the fight game are of the same opinion. Training such as Dempsey did before he met Jess Willard in Toledo is a terrific grind that ruins one's disposition. Training such as he is doing here is merely play compared to that.

Of course, Champion Jack and his astute manager, Jack Kearns, would not admit that they think the Firpo fight is a setup. But just the same there are no lines of worry forming in the faces of either. When the champion told his manager last night that he wanted to take a couple of days off and "have some fun," Kearns readily agreed.

Yesterday soon after Jack had done his regular jaunt on the road and consumed his specially prepared breakfast, he was in the big fawn colored roadster with his chauffeur and whizzing away from the resort just as other guests were coming down to breakfast.

He took a long whirl about the lower Adirondacks in the morning and attended the races at Saratoga in the afternoon. If he was wagering anything on the horses he kept the fact well concealed. Apparently he was interested only in seeing them run.

DELANEY CALLED TO SPAR WITH DEMPSEY FOR TITLE BATTLE

Minneapolis, Aug. 30. — Jimmy Delaney, the same young fellow who gave twin city fans a boxing treat at Fort Snelling, will attempt to impart the same pleasure to Jack Dempsey, known here and there as the world's champion heavyweight, who is now in training for his title bout with Luis Firpo.

Jack Kearns sent an urgent plea to Mike Collins to have Delaney sent on and Collins replied that his boxer would report as soon as he had filled an engagement with Jim Shirley in Omaha Sept. 6. Delaney will work with Dempsey during the final week of his training. He will be accompanied by Mike Collins and Mike Gibbons, who have been called in by Kearns to advise with him in conditioning the champion.

State Game Protective League Names Officers

Fergus Falls, Aug. 30.—The Minnesota Game Protective league closed its sessions in this city and adjourned to Camp Balmoral on Ottertail lake, 30 miles east of here.

Speakers advocated the discontinuance of the drainage system which is wiping out sloughs and some of the smaller lakes.

Resolutions concerned game and fish conservation that were adopted at the Brainerd and Walker conventions and which have not yet become laws were again called to the attention of the legislature, with the exception of the resolution which classes cats as predatory animals.

The financial statement showed $268.75 on hand.

Vice-presidents were elected as follows:

First congressional district, Dr. F. S. James of Winona; second, Charles Grill, Sherburne; third, C. W. Crandall, Randolph; fourth, A. D. Darge, St. Paul; fifth, Archie Wilcox, Minneapolis; sixth, James M. Totten, Little Falls; seventh, Ed. Lindquist, Olivia; eighth, R. E. Hastings, Two Harbors; ninth, L. Benshoof, Detroit; tenth, Charles F. Serline, Warroad.

CAPTAIN OF IOWA GRID TEAM MARRIED

Minneapolis, Aug. 29.—When the football warriors from the University of Iowa trot into Northrop field this fall to do battle with the Gophers, they will be led by a married man. Glen Miller, flashy half-back leader of the Hawkeyes, has been married, according to word received by his friends in Minneapolis today. Mrs. Miller was formerly Miss Eleanor Huntley of Waterloo, Iowa. The newlyweds are seniors at the University of Iowa and will graduate next June.

MACKENZIE HEADS GAME ASSOCIATION

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 29. — Senator Claude C. MacKenzie of Gaylord today was elected president of the Minnesota state game protective association at its annual meeting here. Al Evans of St. Paul was elected secretary and Harold Harris of St. Paul, treasurer. Election of vice presidents was deferred pending a report by the nomination committee. Carlos Avery, former state game and fish commissioner, was nominated for the presidency, but declined to permit the use of his name.

CHAMP TO RESUME HIS HARD TRAINING

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 30. —Spending a vacation doing nothing has become so tiresome to Jack Dempsey that the world's heavyweight champion expressed himself as being eager for the resumption of training for his title match with Luis Angel Firpo jn New York Sept. 14.

Dempsey will have new sparring partners in camp to absorb his jolting right swings and left hooks. Leo Gates, an Indian heavyweight of New York, has been added to the staff, and Jack Renault,, Jack McAuliffe and Farmer Lodge are expected in camp before the end of the week.

Because of a cold, drizzling rain Dempsey remained in his camp, declining an invitation for a fishing trip because he feared he might get drenched and thus aggravate the cold which has bothered him. Jerry Luvadis, the trainer, said the champion's cold was responding to treatment and that he probably would be on edge tomorrow.

Dempsey spent Tuesday doing what almost anybody would do at a lake on a rainy day—playing cards. A fire roared in the little stove in the living room, taking the chill out of the place and Dempsey enjoyed a half dozen games of pinochle. He later tried to take a nap but bounced out of bed when sleep failed to come, and wound up the phonograph in an attempt to liven things up.

The enforced confinement made the champion eager to resume training.

Sportsmen to Attend Trials

Duluth, Aug. 30.—Several local sportsmen are planning to attend the trial events at Benson, Minn., Sept. 13, of the Minnesota and Northern States Field Trial association. North and South Dakota, in addition to Wisconsin and Iowa, will participate for the first time as members of the association, according to Claire Wildner local sportsman.

MINNEAPOLIS BOWLERS START PLAY SEPT. 18

Minneapolis, Aug. 29.—The City Bowling league, in session last night, voted to start the season at the Central alleys Sept. 18. It will have practically the same personnel as last year.

The Elks league bowlers will meet tonight at the Elks club to draft final plans for the league season.

PICKING WINNER OF GREB-WILSON FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 30.—Harry Greb, the "windmill" from Pittsburgh, is going after the middleweight championship here tomorrow night when he meets Johnny Wilson, the alleged champion.

Like the bird in Shelby, who won a yacht in a raffle, the question arises: "What will Greb do with the title when he gets it?"

All there is to the title that is now possessed by Wilson is some glory that might be attached to any kind of a championship, and after the disrepute that Wilson dragged the class into, there is darned little of that attached to the crown.

Wilson has made little more than the proverbial dime out of the championship, and he acted so in restraint of trade that it will take a new firm years to build up business again.

Despite the insistence with which he maintains that he can make the weight, Greb is no middleweight, and if he is called upon or required to do much in defense of the title he will be sure to go the way of Joe Gans.

Greb is none too rugged, even as a light-heavyweight. He has been in bad health and he has drained his resources by much fighting and hard fighting. He has also failed to adhere strictly to a life of training.

So far, this sounds as if Greb already had won the championship from Wilson. He is not yet in possession of the title and perhaps he is a very great distance from it.

Wilson was made a favorite in the early betting, for reasons that might be hard to explain, considering the form that he has shown as a fighter, and most of the experts believe that he has more than an even chance to retain his title.

There was a story printed several weeks ago that the fight had been fixed, that Greb was to take a flop and then alibi that he was weakened too much by making the weight.

Such stories, although granting the fact that fights have been fixed in the past and that they may be fixed now, are entitled to little consideration.

* * * * * * * * *

Before the Leonard-Tendler fight whispers went around, started perhaps by gamblers who wanted the odds reduced, that Tendler was going to take an "out" on a foul and that they would fight again next year.

Such stories are a great injustice to Greb. He may have his faults, but certainly no one can remember anything that he has done in the past that could have caused the slightest suspicion. Like Johnny Dundee, Greb has built up a tremendous following because every time he was named as one fighter in a bout, the fans knew that they would see a lot of action and that they would get their money's worth.

Greb and Dundee have a lot in common. They have both been forced out of their class because boxers their own weight couldn't be dragged into the ring with them. Since he was a light-middleweight several years ago, Greb has fought anyone offered him at any weight. He gave away pounds and pounds and always made a good showing.

* * * * * * * * *

No fight of the hectic summer of fights and fights has had the experts guessing as much as the world's middleweight championship bout here tomorrow night.

As a rule, in doping and in betting on the outcome of a fight, the champion possesses the known quantities and what experting is to be done revolves around the prospects of the challenger.

In this unusual case it is just the opposite. Everyone knows the capabilities of Greb, and no one is sure of what Wilson will turn out to be when he is subjected to the real test that he is found to face.

Wilson sort of sneaked into the championship and he has sneaked more as the champion. He won the title from Mike O'Dowd in Boston on a decision and O'Dowd shouted to the world that he had been made the victim of larceny. Wilson gave him a return bout in New York, and although he failed to show any kind of championship ability, he did beat O'Dowd, and in the poverty-stricken condition of the class it meant that he was the champion sure enough.

Wilson fought the rugged Bryan Downey in Cleveland and he was floored and saved by what the ringsiders maintained was a most generous and considerate count on the part of the referee. The champion then took Downey back on for a no-decision thing in Jersey City and the exhibition was so terrible that Tex Rickard refused to pay Wilson his purse.

More troubles followed for the champion. When he tried to get his money, Rickard forced him to sign an agreement to fight Harry Greb. Wilson signed the agreement, got his money and then told Rickard to jump himself into the well-known lake.

The New York boxing commission then suspended Wilson for failing to defend his title and announced that Greb had become the champion through a sort of default process.

Matters were further complicated when Greb proceeded to win the American light-heavyweight championship and decided that he didn't care to monkey around and defend what claim he had on the middleweight title.

Finally, after months of wrangling, the Wilson-Greb match was made, Wilson was reinstated by the boxing commission and they are going to have it out.

In winning the championship and in the few times that he stepped out of the set-up class to defend the title, Wilson showed himself to be so bad that he was dubbed "the cheese champion."

He follows the southpaw style of fighting with his right hand and his right foot extended, and it is a rather annoying style to beat. He is of rugged build and has enough power in his back, shoulders and arms to be a good hitter, if he knows how to get the most of his possibilities.

Some supporters of Wilson have maintained that he is a good fighter and a worthy champion and that he would prove it the first time he faced a real, capable opponent. He will have that opportunity in his fight with Greb, but bettors are asking more than assurance from his friends that he is a real fighter.

CARBIS WALKER TRAINS FOR CHANNEL ATTEMPT

Dover, Eng., Aug. 30. — Carbis Walker, Cleveland, who plans to follow up his recent swim across Lake Erie with the conquest of the British channel, has been showing fine speed in his practice.

He used the crawl stroke exclusively. He intends to attempt the crossing on the first favorable day, asserting that calm weather is more important to his style than are slack tides. Rough seas have been running for several days and the winds have been strong.

Haughdahl Sets Records

Mandell Gets Draw

Cincinnati, Aug. 30—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., lightweight, and K. O. Mars, of Cincinnati, fought a fast 10 round draw here last night.

FIRPO NOT WORRYING OVER NEXT MEAL

New York, Aug. 29.—That date Jack Dempsey has to settle a quarrel with Luis Angel Firpo is not worrying him any more than the problem of where he is to get his next meal. The champion is taking a couple of days off to romp about a bit.

All of which points to the belief that he feels there is little need of intensive training to fit himself to battle this alleged Wild Bull of the Pampas. A lot of wise folks of the fight game are of the same opinion. Training such as Dempsey did before he met Jess Willard in Toledo is a terrific grind that ruins one's disposition. Training such as he is doing here is merely play compared to that.

Of course, Champion Jack and his astute manager, Jack Kearns, would not admit that they think the Firpo fight is a setup. But just the same there are no lines of worry forming in the faces of either. When the champion told his manager last night that he wanted to take a couple of days off and "have some fun," Kearns readily agreed.

Yesterday soon after Jack had done his regular jaunt on the road and consumed his specially prepared breakfast, he was in the big fawn colored roadster with his chauffeur and whizzing away from the resort just as other guests were coming down to breakfast.

He took a long whirl about the lower Adirondacks in the morning and attended the races at Saratoga in the afternoon. If he was wagering anything on the horses he kept the fact well concealed. Apparently he was interested only in seeing them run.

DELANEY CALLED TO SPAR WITH DEMPSEY FOR TITLE BATTLE

Minneapolis, Aug. 30. — Jimmy Delaney, the same young fellow who gave twin city fans a boxing treat at Fort Snelling, will attempt to impart the same pleasure to Jack Dempsey, known here and there as the world's champion heavyweight, who is now in training for his title bout with Luis Firpo.

Jack Kearns sent an urgent plea to Mike Collins to have Delaney sent on and Collins replied that his boxer would report as soon as he had filled an engagement with Jim Shirley in Omaha Sept. 6. Delaney will work with Dempsey during the final week of his training. He will be accompanied by Mike Collins and Mike Gibbons, who have been called in by Kearns to advise with him in conditioning the champion.

State Game Protective League Names Officers

Fergus Falls, Aug. 30.—The Minnesota Game Protective league closed its sessions in this city and adjourned to Camp Balmoral on Ottertail lake, 30 miles east of here.

Speakers advocated the discontinuance of the drainage system which is wiping out sloughs and some of the smaller lakes.

Resolutions concerned game and fish conservation that were adopted at the Brainerd and Walker conventions and which have not yet become laws were again called to the attention of the legislature, with the exception of the resolution which classes cats as predatory animals.

The financial statement showed $268.75 on hand.

Vice-presidents were elected as follows:

First congressional district, Dr. F. S. James of Winona; second, Charles Grill, Sherburne; third, C. W. Crandall, Randolph; fourth, A. D. Darge, St. Paul; fifth, Archie Wilcox, Minneapolis; sixth, James M. Totten, Little Falls; seventh, Ed. Lindquist, Olivia; eighth, R. E. Hastings, Two Harbors; ninth, L. Benshoof, Detroit; tenth, Charles F. Serline, Warroad.

CAPTAIN OF IOWA GRID TEAM MARRIED

Minneapolis, Aug. 29.—When the football warriors from the University of Iowa trot into Northrop field this fall to do battle with the Gophers, they will be led by a married man. Glen Miller, flashy half-back leader of the Hawkeyes, has been married, according to word received by his friends in Minneapolis today. Mrs. Miller was formerly Miss Eleanor Huntley of Waterloo, Iowa. The newlyweds are seniors at the University of Iowa and will graduate next June.

MACKENZIE HEADS GAME ASSOCIATION

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 29. — Senator Claude C. MacKenzie of Gaylord today was elected president of the Minnesota state game protective association at its annual meeting here. Al Evans of St. Paul was elected secretary and Harold Harris of St. Paul, treasurer. Election of vice presidents was deferred pending a report by the nomination committee. Carlos Avery, former state game and fish commissioner, was nominated for the presidency, but declined to permit the use of his name.

CHAMP TO RESUME HIS HARD TRAINING

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 30. —Spending a vacation doing nothing has become so tiresome to Jack Dempsey that the world's heavyweight champion expressed himself as being eager for the resumption of training for his title match with Luis Angel Firpo jn New York Sept. 14.

Dempsey will have new sparring partners in camp to absorb his jolting right swings and left hooks. Leo Gates, an Indian heavyweight of New York, has been added to the staff, and Jack Renault,, Jack McAuliffe and Farmer Lodge are expected in camp before the end of the week.

Because of a cold, drizzling rain Dempsey remained in his camp, declining an invitation for a fishing trip because he feared he might get drenched and thus aggravate the cold which has bothered him. Jerry Luvadis, the trainer, said the champion's cold was responding to treatment and that he probably would be on edge tomorrow.

Dempsey spent Tuesday doing what almost anybody would do at a lake on a rainy day—playing cards. A fire roared in the little stove in the living room, taking the chill out of the place and Dempsey enjoyed a half dozen games of pinochle. He later tried to take a nap but bounced out of bed when sleep failed to come, and wound up the phonograph in an attempt to liven things up.

The enforced confinement made the champion eager to resume training.

The Elks league bowlers will meet tonight at the Elks club to draft final plans for the league season.
